EC1011: Data Analysis II - Multiple Choice Questions Topic 1: Sampling distribution of sample means 1. Sampling distributions describe the distribution of A. population parameters B. sample statistics C. both parameters and statistics D. neither parameters nor statistics 2. Which of the following statements is false regarding an estimator of a parameter? A. It is a function of the random sample values that yields a point estimate of B. It is a function of the random sample values that yields an exact value of C. It is a random variable and therefore it has a sampling distribution D. None of the above 3. An estimator has a standard error of 9 if the sample size is 20. The standard error of the estimator increases as the sample size goes to infinity. The estimator A. is not efficient B. is not unbiased C. is not consistent D. is not BLUE 4. In estimating the population mean, the statistician considers two estimators X and Y such that Expected value of X is (+3) and that of Y is (-3). We decide that A. X is an efficient estimator of B. X is an unbiased estimator of C. Y is an unbiased estimator of D. Neither X nor Y is an efficient estimator of Browne All subjects Sociology Learn about Online Resource Central VLE/CMS Content Test Banks From our catalogue pages. Find a textbook. A population has N items. Samples of size n are selected without replacement. Find the number of possible samples.a) N^C_n b) n^N c) 2^N d) 3^N Answer: bClarification: The number of ways of selecting n samples from a population containing N atoms is N^C_n . The probability of selecting each sample is $1/N^C_n$. 2. Find the number of possible samples from a population containing 8 items from which 2 items are selected at random without replacement.a) 56 b) 28 c) 66 d) 38 Answer: bClarification: The number of ways of selecting n samples from a population containing n items is N^C_n . The population is N = 8 and sample size is n = 2. Therefore the number of possible samples are $8^C_2 = 28$. As an Amazon Associate I earn from qualifying purchases.
